

Werner G. Nistler, Jr.

Chief Executive Officer
Touchmark

Werner is the CEO of Touchmark, based in Beaverton, Oregon, and one of Oregon's top 150 privately-held companies. He has established and grown a variety of businesses over the past 30 years, including Touchmark, which develops and operates resort-style continuing care communities. Currently, there are 11 Touchmark communities in eight states and Canada.

Among other enterprises, in 1982, Werner formed Beaverton Banking Company, a state chartered bank, which became Valley National Bank and ultimately part of U.S. Bank. He has served on the Board of Directors for Beaverton Banking Company, Valley National Bank, and currently serves on the Board for Capital Pacific Bank. He is a Certified Public Accountant.

Werner was born in Beach, North Dakota, and holds a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from the University of North Dakota as well as a Master of Science in Accounting from Arizona State University. Following college, he did a two-year Army tour, operating Officer's Clubs.

Werner is very active in his church and serves on the Board of Trustees for Jesuit High School, Valley Catholic Capital Campaign, and the Catholic Charities Cabinet. He and his wife, Colleen, have six children.